PALEA MATTER TAKEN UP

SUITS ONCE THROWN OUT WILL NOW BE HEARD.

On Account of Rush of Business Court Will Not Take Half Holiday—Minor Estate Matters.

The case of H. H. Parker vs. Palea, trespass, is being heard by Judge Hambridge today. As there are so many cases on the calendar to be disposed of at this term the court, at noon, declared adjournment to 2 o'clock and will not be able to participate in the memorial services. The case now on will probably last all day. Every detail of it is being contested by respective counsel, as it was an important proceeding upon several other cases to come up later. Magoon & Thompson appear for the plaintiff; Robertson & Widner for defendants.

This case was thrown off the calendar at the last term because the lawyers were not ready. Exceptions were taken to the Supreme Court, and the higher body decided that while it was in the discretion of the Circuit Judge to dismiss the case it was probably not exactly fair in the light of the fact that both sides desired a hearing and formal adjustment of the difficulties therein presented. The other cases having close relation with this one are: H. H. Parker vs. E. K. Bull, F. Pahia vs. Palea, John Bell vs. Palea and William Henry vs. Palea. All are trespass actions and refer to the same property.

In the matter of E. M. Nakulua vs. J. H. Schnack, ejectment, exceptions have been taken by the defendant to the order of the Circuit Judge overruling his demurrer.

The Hawaiian Trust & Investment Company has filed its final accounts as administrator of the estate of the late J. K. Kahoakano, showing receipts to have been $3,601.40 and disbursements $1,745.73.

The trustees of the estate of the late Mrs. Widemann were this morning formally discharged.

In the matter of Frank Schaefer vs. Dr. John S. McGrew, damages on account of ejectment, the defendant this morning filed a demurrer, pointing out various errors in the bill and denying that same was in proper form.

Late yesterday a second suit was filed against the Maunaloa Sugar Company to recover fees on laborers actually contracted to the plantation and employed by it. The amount involved is about $4,500, and the suit is brought by the Japan Immigration Company. As the matter now stands there are suits in both the Territorial and United States courts against the same company, both covering the identical points.

In the bill the plaintiff intimates an intention of setting the names of defendant stockholders and compelling them to pay the amount of the claim. This will bring up the question of the liability and rights of delinquent stockholders in a new way, and the outcome will be watched with interest. The bill prays that the books of the company be ordered into court for examination and that the officers be questioned as to whom the stockholders are.

AN UNEXPECTED RESULT

CHINESE AND JAPS GET A SURPRISE.

Arrested One Another for Assault and Both Sides are Arrested and Fined for Confessed Gambling.

The next fight that occurs among gamblers will probably not be reported to the police. As a result of two of yesterday's assault and battery cases, defendants, complaining witnesses and most of the other witnesses were fined $10 each this morning for gambling or being present at a gambling game, yesterday, in the effort to convict another on the assault and battery charge they cheerfully testified that they were gambling, whereupon High Sheriff Brown promptly had the whole lot arrested for playing seven-eleven or watching it.

Okikihi was the man assaulted. He was one of five Japs who were playing among about thirty Chinese in a Makiki resort. He had a difference with one of the Chinese and according to the testimony the whole thirty set on him and started to beat him. He got hold of a knife and decorated the head of Ho Tim with several deep cuts. In giving testimony about the assault and battery the witnesses for both sides told all about the gambling without any reservations. Those who had made passes said so and those who had watched told what they saw. That was why both Chinaman and Japanese were in court this morning on new charges.

The Chinese all pleaded guilty and attorney Andrews asked the court to be merciful. Two of the Japs pleaded not guilty and were acquitted. High Sheriff Brown called all the other defendants in turn, but none of them could remember having seen the two in the gambling place while the game was on. They were Nishimura and Yase. After they had been discharged the attorneys made their spiel.

"The defendant Ho Tim has suffered much already," said Andrews, waving his hand at the heavily bandaged head of Ho, "and all these defendants have been very frank, readily pleading guilty. They put the blame on the other side yesterday in the assault and battery case. They were conducting a quiet game and I hope the court will not be severe."

The lawyer for the Japs came next. Brooks called special attention to Okikihi, who had suffered even more than Ho Tim. Okikihi had been nearly beaten to death, he had been arrested for assault and battery, had had to pay attorneys' fees and above all he had lost in the game. Mercy was asked for in behalf of Okikihi.

High Sheriff Brown objected to the idea of the defendants' money being devoted first to the game, next to lawyers and last to the courts' fees. Judge Wilcox remarked that the court collected its share and he imposed fines of $10 each.

Crap-shooting is becoming a fad in Honolulu. It is in evidence everywhere. The day before yesterday seven games were noticed in progress by a man who went up Nuuanu street to the reservoir and games are constantly going on on the water front.

In the Okikihi-Ho Tim cases of assault and battery there were no convictions. The result of the orientals prosecuting one another for assault and battery is the fining of all concerned for violation of the gambling law.

CHINESE DRAMA COMING

THEATER IS TO BE OPENED NEXT WEEK.

Company of Twenty-eight Performers Has Already Been Engaged—New Plays and Actors Promised.

Histrionic China is to shine. With the advent of the New Year the theatrical class of the Celestial Empire will gather and offer entertainment to the public. This will be the first Chinese theatrical performance since the old theater was destroyed by the fire last year. Twenty-eight actors will compose the troupe, or rather company as the profession prefers in the states to call it.

After the company saw their property destroyed and their play house a mass of smoldering ruins a year ago dismay seized their souls and the actors were scattered to the four winds. Some went east, some went west and a few might have gone to jail although no reason for this effect is at hand. Like many of their kinsmen brethren of the profession the members of the company were driven to seek immediate means of livelihood in new fields. Now as the standard of a theatrical gentleman is high, especially when it becomes necessary for him to seek work outside of his profession, the company, experienced many trials. But the pangs of hunger smothered the whisperings of pride and from demanding plantation managerships many of the actors were willing to take any position from scare crows in a rice field to meek and lowly pounders of pol.

But an Oriental Oscar Hammerstein arose and determined to build a new theater. He interested capital and succeeded in getting enough money with which to build a play house on the Ewa side of Liliha street, on Captain Tripp's property. He hunted up the various lost, strayed or stolen members of the old troupe and got them to accept engagements of indefinite length. Two female impersonators who arrived from China during the plague time but were unable to appear on the local boards, were also engaged to support the rest of the company. The outfit will be further reinforced shortly after the new year by the advent of a warrior, an acrobat and a female impersonator from the Colonies.

A variety of plays will be produced. Several new pieces have been written during the last year and it is reported that the scenes of some have been laid in Honolulu. Inasmuch as considerable red fire has been ordered by the management it is thought that perhaps a scene dealing with the great fire is to be given. Certainly such a presentation by Chinese would be novel and perhaps realistic as all of the actors probably took a more or less prominent part in the scenes of those stirring times.

A Chinese love story is another of the plays contemplated and it will probably be among the first produced. Several new plays from China have been ordered. These are awaited with anxiety as the opportunity for some good old melodrama is ripe. The howls of the savage Boxers and ear splitting shrieks of the fleeing missionaries will it be hoped, drown the noise of the cymbals and other Chinese musical instruments. That the show will be patronized by many white people and Hawaiians is certain. It was hoped that the theater could open tomorrow night, but owing to delays in the construction of the building the opening will not be held before a week from Saturday.

THE BATHERS HOT TIME

ROUGH SEA DRAWS CROWDS TO WAIKIKI.

The Experience of a Bather Who Says He Does Not Like the Booming Surf.

Surf-riding and bathing have been very popular during the past few days of rough weather, and Waikiki resorts have been well patronized by people who enjoy swimming or "riding" when good-sized breakers roll. Bathing is better now than it has been for many a day. But there is one visitor to the beach who will not dally again with the booming wave. He says he doesn't see any fun in it. He tried it yesterday in the presence of many spectators, and now he says he would rather walk Papa Ila's hot stones than mingle with the sea waves again.

The man who doesn't like Waikiki bathing had an experience in the water. He is an elderly man, with white hair and a long white beard. Attired in the usual abbreviated costume he started for the breakers yesterday, all unconscious of the entertainment he was about to afford to some time-killers who sat and watched others bathing. The waves were decidedly high. They came in with force and the white-haired bather soon found it out.

Trouble for the bather began when he suddenly made the thrilling discovery that his trunk had got loose. He wrestled with them a moment in deep water, while waves after waves knocked him about, and then he cautiously started for shallow water, holding the trunk. He stopped with his back to the spectators to tie the garments. Suddenly a wave sent him over his head. The last thing seen was his wide open mouth shooting air. Water into the air like the spouting of a whale and when he struggled to his feet his shirt had been washed over his head and the trunk was still untied. The end of his long white beard trickled through the shirt.

The unlucky bather held his trunk in one hand and struggled with his shirt with the other. Then he staggered up the beach, turned his back to the time to the surf, and tried again to fix the troublesome trunk. He leaned forward to do so, while the thrilled spectators riveted their eyes upon him. The next wave lifted him from behind.

E. H. PARIS, Secretary.
February 7, 1901.

His venerable head penetrated the sand the shirt went over the silver locks again and a retreating wave left him sprawling while ladies looked the other way. The rest of the spectators broke into tumultuous laughter and a Chinese waiter said "Hully Golly!"

When the man on the sand looked up and saw the row of laughing men he measured the distance to the bath house. Then he made a wild run and half an hour later, after picking the sand out of his whiskers and putting sticking plaster on various sand-scraped parts of his anatomy, he came forth and gave his opinion that there was no fun in surf bathing.

Those who like the bathing are having the time of their lives just now. Last night the Waikiki Inn and the Annex had all their surf boats and boards out and many bathing suits were in use. The surf is breaking far out and white capped waves come rolling in with splendid effect. It is a hot time for the bathers and they are making the most of it while it lasts.
